PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

You are reading the first issue of the MBC Circle. We hope to publish this faculty-staff newsletter every two weeks as a means of helping everyone keep up with what is going on around the campus. Susan Rhoads will be the editor for the remainder of this semester. I will be asking different ones on campus to contribute a column from time to time. I also would appreciate your sending Susan news items from your department. If you have attended a seminar or presented a paper or just want the campus to know about something important going on in your life, let Susan know.

Next week I will be attending my first meeting of the Missouri Baptist Convention Executive Board. It just happens to be Missouri Baptist College's turn to give a report in the full meeting. I am anxious to tell them about the growth in enrollment and the growth in quality that has been experienced here over the past couple of years. It is obvious that the campus community, under Dr. Field's leadership, has accomplished much.

I appreciate your work in addressing budget concerns. I feel comfortable in returning to the Business Committee with a contingency plan. Right now it looks as if our budget projections are sound. One of the best things we can all do for the next few months is to be sensitive to student recruitment. Please assist when called upon by the admissions office by calling, writing, or visiting with prospective students. The attention from a faculty member can make the difference in whether a student decides to come here or go elsewhere.

Pat, Brenna, and I want to thank you for the warm (and I don't mean the weather) welcome you have extended to us. Though the process of moving may indeed be an "act of violence" you have made it much easier for us. We are looking forward to the days ahead with excitement as we work together under God's leadership.
